

Insurers are Committed to Helping Southern Californians Recover and Rebuild

By The Numbers

(as of March 3, 2026)

The Southern California wildfires are on track to become the costliest insured wildfire event in global history. The road to recovery will be long, but insurers are committed to working alongside residents and businesses every step of the way to help Southern Californians recover from the devastating wildfires and rebuild stronger than before.

Helping Consumers Recover and Rebuild

$23.7 BILLION
across 41,800
policyholder claims

$1 BILLION
to support the FAIR Plan
to cover wildfire losses

This is just the beginning. Tens of billions more in claims will be paid in the months ahead as Californians work to rebuild their homes, businesses and lives.

Insurers on the Frontlines

From the onset of the wildfires, insurers have been helping Southern Californians process their claims and secure emergency housing, food, clothing, and financial assistance during their time of need by:

- Proactively reaching out to impacted customers
- Setting up help centers in Pasadena and the Palisades
- Deploying Catastrophe Teams
